

GRAYLYN

Graylyn's 86 one-of-a-kind guest rooms, 55 sprawling acres and award-winning cuisine are unlike any other. Join us at Graylyn where historical charm, modern sophistication, and personalized service come together.

Constructed in 1932, Graylyn was built as a country estate away from the hustle and bustle of the busy streets of Winston-Salem. The Gray family enjoyed the home for only 3 years until the death of Bowman Gray Sr. in 1935. The sons, Bowman, Jr. and Gordon, lived in the main house and Bernard Cottage respectively until 1939. In 1946, Mrs. Gray donated the property to the Bowman Gray School of Medicine. She lived in Bernard Cottage until her death in 1961. In 1972, the estate was donated to Wake Forest University. The tragic fire in July of 1980 prompted the restorations of the house and property to its original magnificence. In January 1984, Graylyn International Conference Center opened for business after a $6 million renovation. Graylyn is managed and operated by Wake Forest University.
